THIRD KY. ARRIVES.

Spend Five Days On Daufuskie
Before Going Into Camp.

Lieut. Col. Jouett Henry in Command at Daufuskie Island.

Savannah, Ga., April 11.—The Third Kentucky regiment arrived at quarantine today from Matanzas on the transports Florida and Kilpatrick. The regiment was in command of Lieut. Col. Jouett Henry, who has been in command since the departure of Col. T. J. Smith, who arrived here two weeks in advance of his troops, and has since been active in making preparations for their comfort when they arrive from Daufuskie Island, where they will be detained for five days in accordance with the regulations of the Marine Hospital service.

At the quarantine station the men were called on to surrender for the first time since they departed from the States. All their personal effects and the regimental baggage had to be given to the Government surgeons, who threw everything into large chests and then injected fumes of formaldehyde gas. To some of the men this was not altogether pleasing, but it was no more than their predecessors had experienced, some of whom were heavy losers.

The systematic manner in which Lieut. Col. Henry handled his men enabled the quarantine force to complete the work in short order. The regiment was then ready to go to Daufuskie Island, about five miles distant, where it will be detained with the Fourth Tennessee, Forty-ninth Iowa and Sixth Missouri regiments, which have been there several days.

Col. Smith was asked to-night about the condition of his men. He said he had had a brief conversation by telephone with Lieut. Col. Henry while the regiment was at quarantine, and understood the general health was good. Four men were left in Cuba, but Col. Smith did not learn who they were.

After the detention period the regiment will be brought to the city on lighters, and will be camped south of town pending the muster out, which it is expected will be within the next two or three weeks.

ACTIVE MOVEMENT

To Kill Some More of the Native
Filipinos.

Manila, April 13.—The Filipinos Monday night attacked the American lines at several points between Malolos and Manila, endeavoring to cut MacArthur's railway communications. They were not in sufficient force to accomplish their purpose and were driven back to the foothills. It is supposed that many of the rebels engaged in the attack had passed the American lines as friends. The railroad was undisturbed at Maricao, but the work was discovered in time to prevent the wrecking of any train. Brig. Gen. Wheaton is preparing for an active movement against the natives in retaliation.

MRS. GUILFORD SENTENCED.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 11.—At 2:30 this afternoon Dr. Nancy Guilford, who has been on trial on the charge of alleged murder in the second degree, and whose trial was postponed on account of the illness of Juror Gregory, pleaded guilty to manslaughter. Judge Wheeler sentenced Mrs. Guilford to pay $1 fine and to ten years' imprisonment.

GOT THEM BOTH.

Tom Freeman Shoots Two Men Who Attacked His Father.

One Killed Instantly and the Other Disabled By a Load of Buckshot.

A double shooting occurred near Lafayette Monday, in which one man was instantly killed and another badly injured.

The shooting was the result of a family feud, with Wm. Freeman and his son Tom on one side and N. A. Dills and R. T. Dills, brothers on the other.

Recently the Freemans won a law suit over the Dills boys, and there has been much hard feeling since. Much talk has been indulged in, and the Freemans have found threatening notices posted on their doors warning them to leave the county in ten days. One of these had a picture of a man hanging by the neck.

Monday evening, as the Freemans, father and son, were returning from Dover, Tenn., and when about seven miles from Dover, they came up with the Dills brothers in the road.

Old man Freeman was in a cart in front and the son was a short distance behind in a buggy with his mother.

The Dills boys made an attack on Wm. Freeman, one of them striking him on the head with a rock and pulling him out of the cart and soon had him down beating him.

Tom Freeman had a double-barreled gun and leaving his mother in his buggy, he ran forward to his father's assistance. As he came up the one not engaged started to meet him with an open knife in his hand. Young Freeman shot him in the legs, wounding him severely but not fatally, as at first reported. He then turned and shot the one who was on his father, killing him instantly.

The old man was pretty badly used up. His head was bruised and there were several severe cuts on his throat, but it is thought he will recover.

The elder Freeman lives three miles south of Lafayette in Tennessee and his son lives in Lafayette.

One of the Dills boys was married and the other single. Our informant did not know which was killed.

Tom Freeman returned to his home the same night and says he is ready to surrender whenever he may be wanted by the authorities.

ALL WANT DIVORCES.

Eight Parties Desire The Bonds of Matrimony Severed.

Abe Carter filed suit for divorce from his wife, Hattie Carter, alleging abandonment. They were married in this county in June '97, and lived together for about a year.

Malinda Washington has brought suit against her husband, Marion Washington, for absolute divorce. They were married, the petition alleges, "many years ago," and abandonment is charged.

Willie Kendrick sues for divorce from Annie Kendrick. They were married in April, 1894, and lived together, says the petition, until the following September. Abandonment is charged.

Alice Farrow desires the bonds of matrimony between herself and Will Farrow legally severed. Cruelty and failure to support are her allegations. She asks for a divorce and the custody of their only child.

All of the above parties are colored.

Preaching Appointment.

Elder G. W. Davis, of Crofton, has an appointment to preach at the Christian church at Nebo, Hopkins county, the fifth Sunday in this month.

The Flood Tide

of spring trade has set in. It will increase in volume day by day. Already it ripples and eddies around the different sections of the store. Dress Goods, Suits, Shirts, Shirt Waists, Gloves, Hosiery, etc., all begin to show signs of great activity. We are pleasing our patrons; no store can have a better advertisement than that. We are here for that purpose. Mark the well beaten path that leads direct to our doors; (though only 6 months in the new stand) note the people as they come and go. Ask them the reasons why they make this store the base of their Dry Goods Supplies, and they will tell you that they have full confidence in our merchandising methods. That's the secret of our success. In twelve years of merchandising we have wronged no one and no man can say ought against us. If you have proven this we ask for your continued support, if we are as yet untried by you we ask for an opportunity for service to you.

The Busy Suit Section.

There is a reason for it: First, we've the handsomest Suits and Skirt equipment in this section; Second, you can absolutely depend upon our garments being right in style, fit, finish and worthiness of material; Third, the prices are so very modest that they appeal to your sense of economy.

The Indian press is of ancient origin. Ages before the European conquest every court had its weekly—in some cases its daily—journal, which was sent out to the principal towns and attended by nobles, wealthy people and officials. These journals contained proclamations and decrees, and chronicled the movements of the court and all things likely to be of interest to the faithful subjects of the rulers of the various principalities.

Newspapers, in our meaning of the word, were first published in 1818. But these were in English; the first native newspaper was not issued until the middle of the century. The native press of the present day may be divided into two classes: Papers edited and published by natives, the matter being generally half in English and half in native language, and those journals which are published entirely in a native language, this class being much more numerous.

As a rule, these last are, often very poorly printed on cheap paper, and on only one side of the sheet, and not infrequently the names have a position greatly in size, according to the amount of news obtainable and the personal circumstances and convenience of the editor.

Generally speaking, the native is very anxious to acquire a knowledge of English. It not only opens the way to appointments in the government service, but also makes him a person of great importance in the district, as comparatively few of the millions of natives read English or even understand it when spoken. A working knowledge of our tongue is indispensable to a native editor, because all the important news is first published in the Anglo-Indian press.

The native writer is fond of extravagant expressions, and makes use, wherever he can, of quotations from Shakespeare or Milton and the religious phrase he has seen in missionary literature. In the use of metaphors he often gets much mixed up.

The editorial page of the native country paper is a literary curiosity. For instance, the reader is assured, in an article on a political crisis, that "all the crowned heads of Europe are shaking in their shoes." Sometimes we read that "the editor expects, with divine help, to have more reading suited to the intelligence of his subscribers in the near future."

But the editor is seen at his best in his own announcements. His whole vocabulary is brought into play to impress the readers. Sometimes the announcement takes the tone of apology, as in the case of the editor who innocently declared: "This is only the beginning of our paper. We were not sure how much matter was required to fill it up, and thinking we had sufficient, we did not exert ourselves much to get more. We therefore, beg that our readers will excuse us this time for the space left blank, and promise to do better and get more in the future."

Still more curious was the announcement of a paper which came out for the first time with two columns blank, the editor making the bold announcement that "a large quantity of exceedingly interesting matter had been left out for want of space."

When the native editor wants a holiday, he suspends publication until it is convenient to resume, and, taking his readers into his confidence, informs them plainly why the paper was not issued on the expected date: "With the consent of our readers, we now propose to take our annual holiday. We are sure none of you will begrudge us our relaxation."

If it was not for the English newspapers published in Calcutta, Bombay and other large cities, which are edited by cultured Englishmen and Anglo-Indians, the native journals would be very poor productions, as nearly all the news and much of the other reading matter are translated in order to fill them.—Parson's Weekly.

Conan Doyle as a Golfer.

Concerning his experience at golf, the famous author, Conan Doyle, wrote this to a friend: "I pray present my compliments to the Golfing club, and wish them from me a very happy evening. I am myself an intermittent golfer, getting very violent attacks at regular intervals. It usually takes me about two months to convince myself that I shall never be any good, and then I give it up until a fresh burst of energy sets me trying once more. I once lived in Egypt until they told me that excavators had to pay a special tax. I inaugurated a private course in Vermont also, and the Yankee farmers asked us what we were boring for. If ever the Ormeau club should wish any part of their links returned I could undertake in a few games to clear every yard now existing."—Christian Work.

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT.

Condition of Crops And Live Stock
April 1st, 1899.

Reports were received this month from 161 correspondents, representing 104 counties.

Wheat.

The absence of growing weather during the month of March has left the solution of the fate of the late wheat to the future. The condition of early wheat is still reported excellent, and in a few counties, where the major portion of the crop was sown early, the prospect for a full average crop is good. Severe freezing while the soil was saturated has further weakened the vitality of the plant, and were it not for the wonderful recuperative qualities so often shown we might despair of receiving any returns from a considerable per cent. of the acreage. A number of correspondents report that the acreage will surely be reduced by plowing up and sowing to other crops. We would advise that ample time be given for development before resorting to this measure. All vegetation is fully one month late, and the prospect should be judged accordingly. Heavy rains have also damaged the crop by washing gullies in the rolling lands and by overflowing the bottoms.

The condition April 1st averages 77 as compared with normal years, a loss of three points since March 1st. The average condition on this date for the past three years has been as follows: 1898, 101; 1897, 94; 1896, 69.

The western section shows the lowest average condition, 69. In the central section the average condition is 78; in the eastern the condition is 85. The condition in the western section has suffered a loss of 1 point since March 1st; the central a loss of 7 points and the eastern a loss of 3 points.

Other Crops.

Out sowing is hardly begun in a majority of the counties, and for this reason no attempt is made at an estimate of the acreage. A few counties report about one-half of the acreage sown in mud. The burning and sowing plant beds is likewise much delayed. Very few growers have plants about ground at this date. Clover has wintered fairly well, a portion of the old clover only being frozen out. Pastures have made no growth worth naming up to the present.

Sheep And Lambs.

The number of spring lambs, compared with the number in 1898, is 57 per cent., the loss being probably the heaviest ever sustained. The absence of the usual amount of grazing at this season causes a further loss in the condition. The character of the winter has been opposed to a thrifty condition of sheep, and the loss of old has been correspondingly heavy. The loss from ravages of dogs is slight, averaging a little less than 5 per cent.

Fruit Prospect.

Owing to the backward season the development of fruit buds is not sufficiently advanced to judge accurately the fruit prospects. There appears to be no doubt that the peach crop will be a total failure. Many of the peach trees are dead. The heavy rains and continued cloudy weather has been exactly suited to enable both fruit and forest trees to recover from the effect of the terrible freeze during the month of February. The condition of fruits, as far as present developments show, averages as follows: Apples, 82; Peaches, 0; Pears, 54; Cherries, 49; Grapes, 75; Strawberries, 84.

STRANGE RAILWAY CRIME.

A Robbery Which Could Not Occur in an American Train.

A daring attempt, under novel circumstances, to rob or murder a passenger in a train is reported to have occurred in the Bordeaux-Paris express recently, says the London Standard. Mr. Albert Roux, a Parisian lawyer, was returning to the capital from the south, and in order to be able to sleep on the journey he had taken a seat in a coupe carriage, in which he was the only passenger. As soon as the train had started on its journey Mr. Roux made preparations to lie down. He was doing so when he was awakened by a peculiar odor which seemed to have suddenly invaded the compartment, and which, according to Mr. Roux, resembled spirits of wine. As he had a small spirit lamp in his traveling bag, Mr. Roux thought this might have got broken. As he was getting up to inspect it Mr. Roux noticed a man on the footboard of his carriage, endeavoring to open the door, which, fortunately, was also locked from the inside. Mr. Roux drew a revolver which he had in his pocket and pulled the alarm, the train being brought to a standstill between St. Sulpice and Vincennes. Meanwhile the man had disappeared from the footboard, and, as he was not to be found in the train after a careful inspection, it is presumed that he jumped down as the train drew up, and made off across country.

In the next carriage to that which Mr. Roux had occupied, however, a discovery was made which leaves no doubt as to the intentions of this mysterious passenger. A small hole had been drilled through the division which separated the compartments. Through this hole a glass tube had been introduced, and some pieces of India rubber tubing which had been left on the seat showed that chloroform had been poured through them. It had doubtless been calculated that the chloroform would fall close to the sleeping passenger's nostrils, and that he would have thus become overpowered. Having given the anesthetic time to act, the thief, it is surmised, got out of his carriage, and entered the next carriage occupied by Mr. Roux to rob him. Mr. Roux was able to give the police a careful description of this individual, whom he had previously noticed at Bordeaux station, and who seemed desirous of getting in the same compartment with him, but was apparently deterred by his engaging a coupe.

AN ENCHANTED GROVE.

Curious Sounds Are Heard But as Yet Unexplained.

Away back in the '50s, says the Galveston News, there was a Shawnee Indian village on the South Canadian river, about 85 miles west of North McAlester, but the old village has long since disappeared. On the spot where the young Shawnee buck sang his kiowala to his dusky maiden and courted his best girl by the light of the full moon, only an occasional rock hearth and a few graves are left to indicate the former hunting grounds of the red man.

Near the old village site now lives a white man. Just on the border of this man's farm is a spot which seems to have been the thickest settled part of the Shawnee village, and here is a grove of black oak trees. In this grove are two very large post oak trees, one in the south and one in the north end of the grove. In the grove can be heard most any day a humming of bees, and it is so plain that the noise has fooled many old bee hunters, but all their search has never revealed a single bee.

Now comes the most peculiar part of this most peculiar tale. The large post oak tree standing at the north end of the grove is the curiosity of the bunch, for not long ago a young man, hearing of the bees, went to the spot and proceeded to look carefully up each tree in the grove until he came to the north tree. He was within two feet of this tree, looking up, when he heard a noise just like a carpenter at work nailing on boards, and the noise seemed to come from the tree. He went around it several times trying to locate the humming, but it still seemed to come from the tree. The humming continued until he happened to touch the tree with his hand, when it suddenly stopped. The man then went away amazed. A day or so after this man had occasion to again pass that way. He slipped up to the tree and listened for the humming, and, sure enough, it was as plain as ever. He touched the tree with the end of his finger, and, as before, the noise stopped at once. This man and several others have tried touching the tree several times since, with the same result.

They say that the humming of bees and the curious humming can be heard any day, but no one has been able to explain the mysteries of this enchanted grove.

To Preserve Its Wild Birds.

There are two islands in New Zealand set apart for the preservation of its remarkable wild birds and other animals. All hunting and trapping is forbidden thereon.

ELEVATORS WITHOUT CABLES.

Remarkable Invention of a Chicago Man and Its Possibilities.

If the claims of a certain young Chicagoan who is a recognized expert in his chosen field of electricity are true, there is going to be a revolution in the elevator business of this country. He has constructed a model car which has answered all the requirements of the test that runs by electricity and dispense entirely with cables. As he puts it, his elevator is simply an application of the trolley system, with the difference that instead of running horizontally it runs vertically.

This, however, is the just part of his invention. With this new device he expects to run trains of elevators and to entirely do away with the delays now encountered in high buildings. Take the Masonic temple, for instance. With one-half of the space now used for elevators a better service can be operated by the new device. In order to operate it two shafts are necessary, one for ascension and one for descension. In these two shafts at the Masonic temple eight elevators can run simultaneously, leaving an interval of five floors between each car. When a car gets to the top of a shaft it simply glides over to the next shaft and begins to descend. When it gets to the bottom it glides over again and begins to ascend. A little switch in the hand of the operator controls its every movement. Thus, with two elevator shafts, the service in cars is quadrupled. An electric device on each car prevents a cutting nearer to the one proceeding than it is to the other. Similarly, the fall of a car is prevented by four arms underneath it which spread out and wedge in cogged rails running up the four sides of the shaft. Any interruption of the electric current breaks a circuit which holds these arms and lets them drop into the rails. In all other respects the car is the same as any elevator car, and the appliance can be fitted to them at slight expense.

The point that will especially recommend this invention to property owners, however, is the saving in space it makes possible and the consequent increase in the number of cars. In the case of the Masonic temple, for instance, half of their elevators could be abandoned and the shafts now used by them converted into offices. If this gave them two more offices on each floor, or, say, 40 offices in all, it would mean an additional income of from $7,500 to $10,000 a year, with a vast better elevator service to boot. The inventor, as soon as he works out one or two minor details, will apply for a patent. "There's millions in it," he declares. — Chicago Daily News.

SHE STUFFS DATES.

How One Young Woman Nets a Hand-some Profit At Home.

A St. Louis girl, Miss Catherine Denny, who has found about a year ago that she would need to hustle around and take care of herself, hit on a plan that was easy, needed little capital and has proved enormously successful. Years ago a friend of her mother's brought from India the recipe for the stuffed dates prepared for the rajahs of the city who she had resided. The recipe was often used by the family, and Miss Denny, at her mother's suggestion, concluded to sell some of the dainty confection. She went to a retail dealer in the city, who referred her to a wholesaler who had been inquiring for just such sweetmeats. He proposed that Miss Denny supply him with cases stuffed with English walnuts, and gave her immediately all the work she could do; in fact, more than she could do alone.

The little building was fitted up and the work done on a large scale. There are in the house three rooms, in which now work the seeders, stuffers and packers. The dates, which come in large boxes, are unpacked, the seeds removed, and in the "stuffing-room" a quarter of a walnut is placed in each date. Powdered sugar is then sifted over and the dates placed in the boxes ready for transportation.

She has made as many as 740 pounds in a day, and when one remembers that it is all hand work, some idea may be gained of the labor involved. An interesting thing in connection with the business is that all the seeds are burned in the stoves of the house instead of coal, and the fire they make is quite hot, and all the dirt of coal avoided.—Chicago Times Herald.

Money in Abyssinia.

Count Gleichen relates in his story of the mission to Menelik that besides the Maria Theresa 1780 dollars the people of Abyssinia for small change use a bar of hard crystallized salt, about ten inches long and two inches and a half broad and thick, slightly tapered toward the ends, five which go to the dollar at the capital. People are very particular about the standard of fineness of the currency.

Japan Imports Petroleum.

Japan imports 6,000,000 silver dollars' worth of petroleum from America and Russia every year. It has been found, however, that there is much oil between the Hokkaido and Akito, and 60 borings have already been made.

HAVE YOU WEAK LUNGS?

Every Sufferer from Lung Weakness, Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh or Bronchitis Can Be Cured.

Complete FREE Course of Treatment Consisting of Four Preparations
— The Stocum System —

Nearly everybody you meet will regard it as a kind of insult to be asked if they have weak lungs. All seem to have a solid faith in the soundness of their own breathing machine. In cases of trouble they will admit there is a "heavy cold," "a touch of bronchitis," or even "a spell of asthma," but as weak or unsound lungs, never NEVER. Even the poor consumptive, who scarcely speaks without coughing, whose cheeks are wasted, hollow and bear the hectic flush of doom, will assure you with gleaming eyes that his cold is in the head and he will be all right when the weather changes.

It is simply terrible to think how far we may be guilty by our indifference to the lung troubles of those near and dear to us. It is also a sad thought that we may hug a delusion as to our own health that we only get rid of when life itself must pay the forfeit.

Nobody can afford to think lightly of lung troubles. Nobody can afford to be mistaken about their possible dangers. Nobody can afford to neglect them, or "let them wear out," or "get better in the spring," or any other foolery that leads only to wreck and ruin. Lung troubles don't move backward. Weak lungs don't grow strong by themselves—you must heal them and strengthen them, and rid them of the very earliest germs of disease, or you are simply committing a cure of suicide. Either you must cure your lung troubles or THEY WILL KILL YOU. That's the whole situation in a nutshell.

Never was there a cure for lung troubles equal to the newly-discovered Dr. Stocum treatment. This forms a system of Four Remedies that are used simultaneously and supplement each other's curative action. It cures weak lungs, bronchitis, asthma, coughs, consumption and every other ailment of the pulmonary region. It destroys every germ that can affect the respiratory system, and even in advanced stages of lung trouble positively arrests the tubercular growth, while it also builds up the patient so that his system is enabled to throw off scrofula, rheumatism, catarrh, and other wasting diseases.

Thousands of cured cases already prove these claims. Thousands of grateful people bless the discovery.

The Doctor wants everybody to know the surprising merits of his system. He has arranged to give a free treatment (Four Remedies) to all sufferers. Full instructions for use accompany each preparation.

WRITE TO THE DOCTOR.

Write at once to Dr. T. A. Stocum, Laboratories, 66 and 68 Pine Street, New York City, giving full address and postoffice address, and mention this paper.

BARBAROUS PUNISHMENTS.

Horrible Treatment to Which Rebels Were Subjected.

From the earliest time English soldiers—that is, those who join the ranks—have been treated as machines, made to do certain work, and falling in the slightest degree, subjected to the most barbaric punishment.

One of the favorite methods of execution was known as "picketing." The victim was suspended by the wrist to an iron ring let into a wall or a high post, and one of his heels was permitted to rest upon a sharpened stick, just blunt enough not to break the skin. Thus the whole weight of the body was thrown either upon the bare heel or upon the wrist. The agony in either case was extreme.

In a moment of demonic cruelty some officer invented a device called "the wooden horse." Rough, sharp boards were nailed together so that they would form a rude imitation of a horse, the back forming a sharp ridge. On this culprit was made to sit, sometimes for hours at a time, and to increase the pain muskets and even heavy weights were fastened to his legs.

During the penitential war there was a punishment known as "the strapado." It was Spanish in its origin and brutal in its tortures. The soldier was hoisted up by means of a rope fastened to his arms behind his back, and then suddenly dropped with a jerk, by which process his shoulder joints were sometimes dislocated.

A form of punishment known as "boiling" or "dredging" was used by the men more than any other. It consisted in tying the offender's hand, palm upmost, so that it was held quite motionless, and then allowing water to fall upon it, drop by drop, from a height of five feet. The pain caused in this way is said to have been so intolerable that the strongest men fainted away under its infliction.

In the whole history of military punishments flogging takes the first place. Its earliest form was known as "running the gauntlet." The offender was stripped naked to the waist and driven slowly through the ranks of his regiment, each man of whom had been armed with a stout rattan. In front of the prisoner stretched a file of the guards, stopping slowly backward, and holding their bayonets pointed to the culprit's breast, in order to make him take the regulation step.

In 1700 an English army regulation made mention for the first time to the "cat." This terrible weapon of torture was made of nine leather thongs knotted near the end and fastened to a handle about 12 inches long. Every stroke brought blood, and when a man was sentenced to receive 12 lashes, it was equivalent to nine times that number, and his back was one mass of bleeding scars.

For grave offenses, such as mutiny or desertion, the "cat" was used with such violence that death often ensued. The Twenty-eighth Foot was called for half a century the "hogging regiment," and it well earned its distinction, if a sergeant, writing in 1806 from Bremen, is to be believed. He says that in the regiment from ten to twenty men were flogged daily.

Sir Charles Napier tells of a colonel of the Fifth regiment, who ordered a man to be flogged because he did not stand steady on parade after a previous flogging. "My back is like a piece of raw beef, sir, after the last 50 you gave me, and I can't bear the weight of my pack." "Take another 50, then," retorted the brutal officer, "and see if it will do your back any good."

These terrible tortures were inflicted on the private soldiers up to a recent date. In 1879 the writer had a "cat" exhibited in the English parliament which caused the death of a soldier a few months prior to that date.—Green Bag.

Great Waste of Labor.

The members of an archaeological society had a gathering at the home of one of their number. While they were roaming about the house, the host called the attention of his guests to an old clock. He told his friends of his great attachment to this timepiece, and grew quite pathetic at certain points in his remarks, which he brought to a close by saying, in a voice full of emotion: "Gentlemen, I have wound up that clock every night for 40 years." He had evidently made an impression on his auditors, when an old fellow, who had been carefully examining the clock, spoiled all the sentiment by saying, dryly: "Well, I always did think you were something of an idiot. That's an eight-day clock!"

The George Stuart revival at Bowling Green has proved a very successful meeting.

Names of Kentucky Counties and Why They Were Chosen.

While Kentucky was admitted into the union scarcely a hundred years ago, many Kentuckians of today are not familiar with the origin of the names of their counties, and the subjoined statistics may not be without interest.

Adair county was carved out of Green in 1801. It was named for Governor John Adair, who commanded the Kentucky troops at New Orleans, and whose famous controversy with Gen. Jackson over the intemperance cast by the latter on the conduct of the Kentucky troops in that battle is still remembered by all older Kentuckians.

Allen county was formed from the counties of Warren and Barren in 1815, and was named in honor of Col. John Allen of Shelby county, who met a soldier's death at the fatal battle of the river Raisin.

Barren county was organized in 1798 from Warren and Green and takes its name from its "barrens," or prairie lands.

Clinton county was cut off from Wayne and Cumberland counties in 1835, and was named for Governor DeWitt Clinton of New York.

Cumberland county was cut off from Green in 1798 and was named for Cumberland river.

Edmonson county was cut out of Warren, Hart and Grayson in 1825, and perpetuates the memory of Capt. John Edmonson, a famous Kentucky pioneer who was slain at the battle of the river Raisin January 22, 1813.

Green county was made from part of Lincoln and Nelson counties in 1792, and received its name from Gen. Nathaniel Green of revolutionary war fame.

Hardin county was taken from Nelson county in 1792, and was named for Col. John Hardin, who was murdered by the Indians in 1792.

Hart county was organized from Hardin and Green in 1819, and was named in honor of Capt. Nathaniel G. Hart, who was captured by the Indians at the disastrous battle of the river Raisin, and afterwards assassinated while a prisoner.

LaRue county was cut out of Hardin in 1843, and was named for a distinguished early settler of that section—John LaRue.

Lincoln county was one of the original counties of the state, was formed in 1780, and was named in honor of Gen. Benjamin Lincoln, a distinguished soldier of the revolutionary war.

Marion county was formed by cutting Washington county in two in 1834, and received its name from Gen. Francis Marion of revolutionary fame.

Metcalf county was made from Barren, Green, Adair, Cumberland and Monroe, and was named in honor of Governor Thomas Metcalf, the tenth governor of Kentucky. Governor Metcalf was a statesman, and built the courthouse at Greensburg, Ky., in 1806.

Monroe county was carved from Barren and Cumberland in 1820, and was named in honor of James Monroe who had just been re-elected president of the United States, receiving every vote in the electoral college but one.

Muhlenberg county was established in 1798 out of parts of Logan and Christian, and bears the name of Gen. Peter Muhlenberg, preacher and soldier of the revolutionary war.

Nelson county was the fourth formed in the state in 1784, and was named in honor of Governor Thomas Nelson of Virginia, one of the signers of the declaration of independence.

Simpson county was formed in 1819 from Logan, Warren and Allen counties, and bears the name of Capt. John Simpson of Shelby county, who met his death at the battle of river Raisin.

Todd county was established in 1819, and was named for John Todd, who lost his life at the battle of Blue Licks August 19, 1782.

Warren county was created in 1796 out of Logan county, and was named in honor of Gen. Joseph Warren, the hero of Bunker Hill.

Rolla Bailey, the young man who had his leg so terribly lacerated at a sawmill near McCauley, Wolfe county, will recover.

(Reported by J. H. Eggleston, of Cummings & Eggleston Co., (Incorporated), buyer on order of dealer and handler of leaf tobacco.)

April 12.—The market opened up on Tuesday with spirited bidding which continued through the week prices ruled higher on common, medium leaf and lugs. The better grades of leaf was steady at unchanged prices for the last two or three weeks. The offerings were composed mostly of common to medium leaf. Nothing fine on sale this week. Highest price $10.

The condition begins to show rather soft on some of the early prizing, which is no more than would naturally be under the circumstances; as the weather has been too soft all the winter for good handling seasons. However taking everything into consideration the condition is fine. Our receipts continue to increase, which will require more sale days. Very little doing in the loose trade. Some scattering crops being delivered. Our market continues to improve in interest each week in point of additional orders, patrons, etc.

PAUL PETREE DEAD.

Excellent Young Man Passes Away Suddenly an Fairview.

Mr. Paul Petree, son of Mr. J. W.
Petree, of Fairview, died suddenly at the home of his father Wednesday afternoon. He had been in very bad health for several years and spent some time in Florida in search of health, but was not materially benefited. A few moments before his death he spoke of feeling much better than for some time and lay down across the bed to rest awhile. A hemorrhage followed and he expired almost instantly.
He was about 22 years of age and was a young man very popular with a large circle of friends. The remains were brought here yesterday afternoon and interred in Hopewell Cemetery.

Notice to Overseers.

All overseers of the different sections of the various public roads of Christian county are hereby authorized to call out their hands and work all roads, but not to use any teams, plows or scrapers on portions of said roads that have been worked with the county graders, unless so ordered by the supervisors.

The above order must be complied with by the 15th day of June, 1899, and if not, overseers will be reported to the County Judge.

All overseers are also authorized to report to the road supervisors the number and kind of tools in their possession that belong to the county.
Should there be any sections of roads in the county that have no overseers, then it is requested that some interested person make such facts known to the supervisors or county Judge.
When such facts will have been made they will receive immediate attention.
Hoping the above orders and request may be adhered to we remain your faithful supervisors.

PREPARING TO PLANT.

Farm Work Of All Kinds Being Rushed With Vengeance.

The few days of sunshine this week have had the effect of drying the ground very rapidly and farm work of all kinds is being rushed.
Considerable plowing has been done and a few farmers will begin corn planting in a day or so, if the weather continues favorable. Tobacco plants in most sections are up and growing rapidly. By the time the land can be prepared for setting, some of them will be large enough for the hill, and from present indications they will be abundant.

What Shall We Do.

A serious and dangerous disease prevails in this country, dangerous because so deceptive. It comes on so slowly yet surely that it is often firmly seated before we are aware of it.

The name of this disease which may be divided into three distinct stages is, First, Kidney trouble, indicated by pain in the back, rheumatism, lumbago, frequent desire to urinate, often with a burning sensation, the flow of urine being copious or scant with strong odor.

If allowed to advance, this reaches the Second stage, or

What We Do.

We don't keep goods in stock. We don't hire any clerks. We don't pay any insurance. We pay little or little rent and but a small amount of taxes. But we will buy and deliver to you any purchasable article in existence cheaper than you can get it elsewhere for the very reasons above enumerated. Of course if we carried a large stock and had heavy expenses, we would have to make big profits too.
But as we buy direct from the factories and have our goods sold before we order them, we are enabled to under sell those whose expenses are necessarily great.

In undertaking this business we are convinced that a great cry of Patronize home industry will go up from those who must of necessity sell higher.

Don't be deceived. Ours is a home industry too. We send no more money away for goods than they do, but we divide the profits with you, so it is YOUR HOME INDUSTRY you patronize when you patronize us. Below we give a few of our prices:

SEASON OF 1899.

TO OUR FRIENDS: Another season of seed time is fast approaching, and the wise and prudent farmer will again use the old and favorably known JONES' BRANDS OF BONE AND ANIMAL MATTER FERTILIZERS, that have for many years done their full duty when applied to both Spring and Fall crops. The use of commercial Fertilizers is almost universal, and the experience of many years has proven conclusively that ANIMAL MATTER FERTILIZERS are the most complete plant food known, and the fact of putting ACID PHOSPHATE ROCK in a bag and branding it "DIS SOLVED BONE" does not make it animal matter. However strictly pure Animal Matter Fertilizers cost more than rock goods because they are worth more, and we ask that you remember this fact. Our goods go out under our guarantee analysis, and this guarantee is good. We offer our goods on their merits, and refer with great satisfaction to their most excellent reputation in all parts of Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky, where they are extensively used. We respectfully urge you to give the celebrated Jones Fertilizing Co.'s goods a trial on both Spring and Fall crops, and we know satisfactory results and future orders will certainly follow.

CONSCIENCE STRICKEN.

Instances of Guilty Ones Making Amends After Many Years.

The new vaccination act has brought to light some really wonderful curiosities in consciences, but magistrates are not the only men who have to deal with the "conscience."

The manager of a great insurance company has received a letter in which the writer states that eight years ago he insured his business premises for $300, and subsequently set fire to them to obtain the insurance. With this he commenced an ornate and more profitable business, at which he succeeded beyond his dreams and for him to become a happy man only one thing was necessary, and that was to clear his conscience of the fraud he had committed. He thereupon returned the $300, plus $240, which was ten per cent. interest per annum upon the capital. With this he thought the defrauded company should be more than satisfied.

A short time ago a strange letter was received by a guarantee company of many years' standing from a well-known city man. The letter set out the fact that some years previously the company had guaranteed his honesty for $100. He subsequently obtained a position of trust, and one day went off with precisely the amount for which he had been guaranteed. He changed his name, eluded the police, started a business of his own and prospered.

Ever since, however, he had been a prey to conscience, which at last he resolved to appease by forwarding the company the amount it had lost by his misdeed, together with the bonus of $20, which he thought would cover the cost the company had been put to in endeavoring to bring him to justice. The company accepted the money, but promptly, and perhaps wisely, refused to renew the guarantees of three clerks who were in the employ of this "conscientious gentleman."

"Dear sir," writes a man to a departmental manager of a railway company. "Three years ago I was a poor clerk, earning a miserable salary of $3 shillings, and I made it a habit to cheat your company out of 15 pence daily. I have recently come into a sum of money which assures me comfort for the rest of my life, and I hasten to satisfy the demands of my conscience by here inclosing you the equivalent of the total sum out of which I have in the past defrauded you. I also inclose a bank note for five pounds, and shall be glad if you will forward it to the most necessitous of the charities connected with your railway, as a small mark of regret for my dishonest conduct."

A Devonshire clergyman was once visited by a miserable-looking beggar, who, with tears streaming down his cheeks, confessed that nine months previously he had robbed the parson's poultry house of a fat and tender fowl, which had, nevertheless, "laid heavy on his soul ever since." He could not replace the hen devoured, nor could he scrape up enough to pay the price of the bird.

Would the gentleman, then, as a Christian man, allow him to do work to the value of the robbery just to satisfy his conscience and make him feel that he might hold up his head again? The parson recoiled at the robbery, and, struck with the honest fellow's appreciation of his sin, agreed to the proposal, and thought the lesson he would be twice as effective if the repentant one were set out to clean out the very poultry house he had previously robbed. The rogue has another hen to work off now.—Indian Planter's Gazette.

REPRESENT US ABROAD.

Beginnings of Our Relations with the World's Powers.

The first state department of the United States was a "committee for the purpose of corresponding with our friends in Great Britain, Ireland and other parts of the world," which speedily became the directorate for foreign relations. Unofficial agents were sent out, then regular commissioners to France, then, in 1777, ministers to other European powers. Fortunately the most Christian majesty of France held out the golden scepter, received the American ministers, of whom Franklin was chief, and on February 6, 1778, sealed his good will by treaties of alliance and commerce.

Perhaps congress was too much elated by the new dignity; at any rate, no other European power recognized us till the end of the war. As Frederick the Great expressed it, he meant "to go over to the side on which Fortune shall declare herself." But in 1780 there came an opportunity to join in a European coalition—the so-called "armed neutrality"—of Russia, Holland and the northern powers. Francis Dana, of Massachusetts, was commissioned "to accede to this position of the said neutral and belligerent powers, protecting the freedom of commerce and the rights of nations," but Russia would not receive him; and when, in 1782, Holland gave a kind of invitation to join, the right had passed by, and the United States declined. Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, in Harper's Magazine.

CAUSES MANY WRECKES.

Quartz Sand of Lake Superior Makes Compasses Treacherous.

How a ship's compass could lead her master astray has been one of the mysteries of Lake Superior for years; but it is probably explained now by one of the vessels in the only way that seems consistent. One of its own boats suffered a week ago at a time when he knew his compasses were right. His ship was heading for Duluth, and for safety was two points south of her course, which should have taken her to the entry at Superior, seven miles south from the harbor entrance at Duluth. Without warning, the vessel grated on a beach and stopped. An investigation showed her to be on a sandbank at the mouth of the Knife river, 20 miles east from Duluth. She was heading directly up the river, almost due north, but the compass still held two points south of the course for Duluth. The boat had, by the change of position, turned almost a right angle. Within 125 feet of either side rock reefs run out into the lake, on which she would have cut herself to pieces. To the southerly side, where a trifling less deviation would have taken the vessel, lay an island of rock that would have driven her bow back to her engines and hunched her up into a ball. As it was, a tug pulled her off, and a survey showed not a dollar of damage. Indeed, nothing is publicly known of the fortunate accident till this writing. Many such a casualty has occurred from time to time, and the river on which this boat brought up has been the scene of two or three groundings every season for years. Some of them have resulted luckily, others have been total losses. The only explanation for these groundings and deviations is that a great bed of magnetic iron sand lies in the bed of the stream, covered by the washings of quartz sand from the rocks of the lake.

The same explanation probably accounts for the late disasters at other points on the north shore. Indeed, in gathering of vessel captains in an agent's office in Duluth recently they discussed the remarkable aberrations of compasses, which every man had noticed far more than before in any year. Lately one of the captains of one of the great fleets, a man noted as the most careful and the best man in the line, who has not lost his compass a cent in repairs for years, found himself on the north shore and three points off his course, though the compass was identical with its indication of every trip of the season. He got off without much loss, but the fact was none the less remarkable. How did he get there, and what made the deviation?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

QUICK WORK.

Wonderful Record of a Cloth Manufacturer in 1881.

They were almost as speedy in 1881 when it came to enterprise as we are to-day. In that year a record was made in the manufacture of cloth which to this day has not been beaten. In Newbury, Berkshire, John Coxeter, remarked to Sir John Throckmorton, of the village, that no great were improvements in machinery that he believed in 24 hours' time he could take the coat off his back, reduce it to wool and turn it back into a coat again. He was a well-known cloth manufacturer.

The baronet was so impressed with the feat that shortly after he asked Mr. Coxeter if it would be possible to make a coat from the wool on a sheep's back between sunrise and sunset of the same day. Coxeter said he could, and Sir John promptly bet 1,000 guineas with some friends that at eight o'clock, June 25, he would sit down to a dinner in a well-fitting coat which at five that morning had been wool on the backs of sheep. On that day the villagers made a holiday to witness the extraordinary proceeding. The sheep were shorn, the wool washed, stubbed, reared, spun and woven. A very primitive loom was used, and the cloth was then scoured, fulled, tinted, raised, sheared, dyed and dressed by four o'clock in the afternoon.

The tailor had during the day secured his measurement, and with nine of his men plunged into work. For two hours and a quarter those ten men worked as fast as they could, cutting, pressing, stitching and sewing on buttons, and at 6:20 Coxeter presented Sir John with a handsome, properly made coat. Sir John, before an assemblage of 5,000 people, put on the coat and sat down to dinner with 40 gentlemen at eight that evening winning his bet. The coat was a hunting coat of a damson color.—Chicago Daily News.

The Queen's Physician.

Sir James Reid, who succeeds Sir William Jenner as physician in chief to Queen Victoria, has sold the post of resident medical attendant is no sinecure, as it necessitates close personal attendance. Sir William Jenner, though nominally the guardian of the queen's health, visited his royal patient but once on a fortnight. Sir James owes his rapid promotion to the skill with which he treated the queen when the influenza broke some years ago at Windsor castle.

Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twenty years, and has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best remedy for all coughs.
